On the Subject of Red Herring

Something to distract you from the task at hand.

- Press the red button in the center to start the module. At any point the button will turn green for half a second, and the defuser must press it. Failure to press the green button in time, or pressing the button when it is not green will result in a strike and reset the module.